Mrs. Seright Sees Crosby Golf Play From "Home"

MAIL FROM CALIFORNIA: Mrs. Daisy Seright, president of The Register, has been visiting in California since early December, and writes us of interesting experiences in the place she is now living.

She went first to San Pedro to the home of her sister, Mrs. R. J. Jenkins, to spend the Christmas holidays with relatives, including a brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Boozie, of Los Angeles.

Then she and some friends from the middle west went to Pebble Beach, Calif., where they accepted the hospitality of a cousin, Mack Boozie, of Cincinnati, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Boozie own a home in the restricted "17-mile-drive" area on the beach, and as they were not occupying it at this time, asked Mrs. Seright and their friends to live there.

The home, which has a large all-glass living room, overlooks the famed Cypress Golf Club grounds on which the annual Bing Crosby tournament was played last week. Bing donates prizes for the tournament, and all proceeds go to charity.

Mrs. Seright writes that her party followed the tournament Friday, and were able to take pictures of Bob Hope and his party and other notables in the entertainment and sports world. News reports were that more than 10,000 people were on the tournament grounds at one time.

Saturday, she writes that her party didn't even leave their residence to watch the tournament, just sat in the living room overlooking the golf course.

After the golfers and gallery had left the field Friday evening, she reports seeing seven deer feeding on the course, and others have been seen in the area which is heavily wooded with cypress and pine trees.

And speaking of wild life, she reports a visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Moore, formerly of Louisville, Ill. Mr. Moore is a brother of Mrs. Frances Moore Mitchell, former Harrisburg City school nurse. At the Moore home, raccoons came up on the patio at the rear of the home and ate food which had been placed out for them, continuing undisturbed within five or six feet of their observers.

James W. Karraker, who was graduated from Harrisburg Township high school in 1927, has been promoted to vice president in the banking department of the Northern Trust Co., Chicago.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Karraker of this city, Karraker was graduated from the University of Illinois.

Only Congo Pumping From Middle Fork

Pumping from Middle Fork creek, with the exception of "Congo," ended at mid-morning yesterday and the small 750 gallon-per-minute pump, last one to stop, was shifted to the adjacent borrow pit.

The creeks will be too low for anything but the Congo pump now until more precipitation comes. However, there were indications that some water still was draining into the borrow pit.

The Congo pump puts about 500 gallons of water per minute into the reservoir.

Dulles Urges Russia to Show 'Deeds of Peace'

Backs Eden, Bidault
In Pledge to Demand
United Germany

BERLIN (AP)—United States Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today challenged Russia to back up her "words of peace" with "deeds of peace" in the Big Four foreign ministers' conference opening here Monday.

Dulles then joined Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault in a pledge to demand a free, united Germany at next week's conference sessions.

The three agreed to meet Saturday in a pre-conference strategy council.

Their purpose will be to establish a solid Western front for their meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. Their decisions are expected to be:

1. To flatly refuse Russia's demands for a Big Five peace conference in which Red China would participate.

2. To insist upon free all-German elections as the indispensable first step toward a German peace settlement and German reunification.

3. To reject categorically any Soviet attempt to get the West to scrap the North Atlantic Treaty organization, the European Defense Community and European Army plan or the Bonn peace treaty.

4. To resist solidly all Soviet moves to split the West.

Dulles said the Russians can show good faith in their "words of peace" by giving Germany a chance to reunite through free all-German elections.

U. S. High Commissioner James B. Conant, Maj. Gen. Thomas Timmerman, who is West Berlin's American commandant, and West Berlin Mayor Walther Schreiber greeted Dulles and a large part of the powerful delegation being brought to the conference.

Molotov to arrive Saturday.

A U. S. 6th Infantry Regiment tank company fired a 19-gun salute and Dulles inspected an honor guard from the 7,000-man American garrison of the city.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden was expected to arrive about 3 p. m. and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault was due about 1 p. m.

Russia's Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov is scheduled to check in Saturday, rounding out the roster for the conference which may determine whether a "negotiated peace" is possible in the cold war.

Communist police already have sealed off the streets around the Soviet embassy in Red Berlin, expected to be Molotov's headquarters during his stay.

Bomber Hits Mountain in Hawaii; 8 Dead

Marine Helicopter
Searching for Navy
Plane Also Crashes

HONOLULU, T. H. (AP)—A Navy Neptune patrol bomber carrying eight men struck a mountainside Thursday night and an Army rescue team early today reported "no sign of life" around the burning wreckage.

A Marine helicopter, searching for the wreckage, crashed a short time after the accident, but none of the four persons aboard was injured.

The homeward bound Neptune plane was making an approach to the Barber's Point Airbase when it rammed into the 3,000-foot mountain range behind Schofield Barracks.

The rescue team radioed the wreckage was too hot to approach, but some bodies appeared to be visible.

It said the plane apparently rammed into the mountainside with full throttle, as the impact scattered bits of flaming debris over a large area.

The helicopter was one of three Marine copters sent to search for the wreckage of the downed Neptune.

The twin-engine plane was completing a flight from Kwajalein to Barber's Point Naval Air Station when it crashed during a ground control approach for landing, the Navy said.

It was in radio contact with the Honolulu control approach center, but the center lost radio contact as it was turning over control to the Barber's Point tower.

The pilot of the downed helicopter had radioed he thought he had sighted the wreckage of the Neptune.

The Navy said the plane apparently crashed and burned about 400 feet up a mountainside two or three miles from a pineapple plantation camp.

Residents of the town of Wahiawa, some seven or eight miles away, reported seeing flames two hours after the crash.

GOP Leaders Promise Further Budget Cuts; Foreign Aid Criticized

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican congressional leaders promised today to do their best to shave more off the federal budget although they said President Eisenhower already has done a mighty fine job.

Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland reported he is confident Congress will make "additional reductions" when it goes to work on appropriation bills.

Rep. John Taber (R-NY), chairman of the House Appropriation Committee says he hopes to trim requests of the administration by 3 billion dollars and perhaps wipe out the anticipated deficit.

The lawmakers haven't had time to study the massive budget message which Mr. Eisenhower sent to Congress Thursday. But already foreign aid looks as if it may be the biggest bulge for cuts.

Both Republicans and Democrats expressed surprise—and in some cases dismay—when they learned the administration is recommending a cut of "only" 100 million dollars in aid spending that has been running more than 5 billion dollars a year.

"Congress is getting very impatient with this economic aid program, said one Senate GOP leader. "Harold Stassen (foreign operations administrator) will have to do a lot of explaining."

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), a Foreign Relations Committee member, predicted that Congress will make "sizeable reductions" in requests for aid funds.

How this kind of cutting would affect the administration's overall spending budget is uncertain, however. Cuts in appropriations are not always reflected immediately in spending because they can be used over a long period of time.

for these flyers, and the rest of the boys. How can I or any other senator vote to draft one other American boy?" he asked.

McCarty charged Red China with holding some 900 American servicemen as prisoners of war and called for an ultimatum demanding their return and a halt to trade between Communist China and U. S. allies.

He said voters should refuse to send to Washington any senatorial or congressional candidate who will continue sending taxpayers' money to allies who "in turn give the sinews of war to our enemy."

Unless the 900 prisoners are returned, McCarty said, "We should say to the Chinese Communists... each and every cursed, murderous Chinese Red will be wiped from the face of the earth."

"If we don't make them account for these flyers, and the rest of the boys... how can I or any other senator vote to draft one other American boy?" he asked.

Freed Prisoners Are Declared Civilians by UN

Reds Refuse Custody
Of American, Other
Pro-Communist POWs

PANMUNJOM, Saturday (AP)—Indian troops threw open the gates for 21 pro-Communist American war prisoners at midnight and abandoned them in the desolate neutral zone.

The action came as the United Nations Command declared the 21,000 freed anti-Communist war prisoners civilians.

Communist military officers refused to take custody of the Americans and their one British and 325 South Korean companions, insisting they be held captive instead until the Korean peace conference meets.

But the Indians thought otherwise. An Indian officer unlocked the inner door of the compound gate at five minutes before midnight while Indian troops, muffled against sub-freezing cold, marched away into the darkness.

At exactly midnight, the officer opened the outer gate and left. The prisoners then were free to go where they wanted but their American spokesman, Sgt. Richard Corden, said, "We will not go out of the compound unless the rations run out. We will create no trouble."

CARBONDALE MAN AMONG PRISONERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The list of 21 American war prisoners who rejected repatriation includes: Sgt. Andrew Fortuna, Ionia, Mich.

Cpl. Arlie H. Pate, RR 4, Carbondale, Ill.

Sgt. Clarence V. Sullivan, Omaha, Neb.

go where they wanted but their American spokesman, Sgt. Richard Corden, said, "We will not go out of the compound unless the rations run out. We will create no trouble."

The men, promised free travel, education and women by the Communists, now have been written off the books by the United Nations Command and their future moves were expected to be directed from the Red's nearby advance military headquarters at Kaesong.

An Indian officer said withdrawal of the guard was made without incident. None of the expatriates made any demonstration although the Koreans shouted farewells to the crack troops as they later disappeared behind a hill.

"We waited outside and at exactly midnight opened the outer gates and left," an Indian major told newsmen at 12:15 a. m. at Panmunjom about a mile from the pro-Red camp.

"I saw no Americans. Some of the men were outside their huts but they were hardly visible because it was too dark," the major said.

In the meantime, 14,000 anti-Communist Chinese were aboard landing ships bound for Formosa and 7,000 former North Koreans were in two ROK resettlement centers in South Korea.

U. N. Commander Gen. John E. Hull's announcement that the POWs in Allied hands had attained civilian status closed the books on the United Nations' three year battle for a new and unprecedented principle of warfare—the right of voluntary repatriation by POWs.

Their return to civilian status had

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Diplomats Feud Over Recognizing Red China; General Motors May Lose Its New Tank Orders.

WASHINGTON.—A bitter backstage battle is raging in the State Department between two of the administration's highest advisers over the recognition of Red China.

One is assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson who flatly opposes any compromise with Red China. The other is Arthur Dean, law partner of John Foster Dulles and special ambassador to Pannunjom, who leans toward an eventual deal with China.

Robertson is the Virginia gentleman who went to Korea and did one of the greatest sales jobs in recent diplomatic history by persuading Syngman Rhee to go along with the peace talks. Robertson now says there is absolutely no chance that Premier Mao Tse-Tung can be persuaded to be a Far Eastern Tito, and threatens to resign if the United States recognizes China.

Dean, a highly successful corporation lawyer, feels that all is not well between the Chinese and the Russians, that sooner or later the United States will have to do business with China. Already Japan, though it operates under the guidance of the U. S. A., is increasing its trade with Red China by leaps and bounds.

It was Wall Street Attorney Dean's statement at a private newspaper dinner that attracted a cross-fire of criticism last week from Sen. Herman Welker of Idaho, sometimes called the junior Senator McCarthy.

If the battle becomes any more bitter, one of the two diplomats will have to bow out, in which case betting odds favor Robertson to stay.

Note—At another recent dinner, given before the Washington Ad Club, Air Force Gen. Frank Everest was asked: "Do you think Chiang Kai-Shek will be able to invade the mainland?" Replied Everest: "What you mean is, 'Do I think Chiang Kai-Shek can defend Formosa?'"

WASHINGTON WEATHER

Even at the White House, Washington's winter weather has been a major topic. Rushing into the President's office for an appointment, breathless Congressman Harley Staggers of West Virginia apologized: "I almost didn't make it, Mr. President. Couldn't get a taxi in all this snow."

"I'm lucky," replied Ike. "One thing about this job of being president is that you don't have to go out in the weather if you don't want to."

Note—The executive offices are in the west wing of the White House proper so the President does not have to step outside when he moves between his living quarters and office.

PENNY-WISE WILSON

He returned to the Chicago base Sunday night where he will receive his discharge this week.

Air Force to Try Pilot Confessing To Germ Warfare

WASHINGTON.—The Air Force will start formal inquiries in about a week into the cases of certain captured pilots who broke under Communist pressure and "confessed" to conducting "germ warfare" in Korea, it was learned today.

The inquiries could lead to courts martial of some of the fliers on charges that they failed to live up to certain standards of conduct prescribed by military law while prisoners of the Communists.

The Air Force, along with the other military services, purposely has been moving slowly in taking any official action against prisoners who told their captors of "germ warfare" or turned "progressives."

After months of investigation into the circumstances surrounding the "confessions" given by 33 fliers, the Air Force has decided to refer some of the cases to boards of inquiry. The boards correspond to grand juries in civilian law and have the power to clear a man or recommend that he be brought to trial.

In addition to the 33 Air Force fliers, three Marine pilots also "confessed" to "germ warfare." The Marine Corps said today its three cases are still under "preliminary investigation."

The Army also said it is still investigating the cases—believed to number less than 50—of soldiers who turned "progressives" in order to gain certain advantages over fellow prisoners.

Decatur Station Back On Air with Substitute Help

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — Television station WTVP was back on the air today, recovered from its one-night blackout caused by resignation of more than half its staff.

Substitute help from Champaign, Springfield and St. Louis is manning the station, which was off the air from Wednesday evening until Thursday afternoon.

The station went off—just before a big charity program Wednesday night—when its three top executives quit in a disagreement over programming with Company President William Shellabarger.

The three, General Manager Harold Cowgill, Chief Engineer James Wullman and Program Director Paul Taff, all walked out followed by five of the 10 engineers and 15 of the 25 program employees.

Shellabarger said the programers wanted to spend more money than the stockholders wanted them to. The three executives said they just wanted better programs.

Editors Find Soviet People Friendly, Surrounded by Anti-American Posters

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven college newspaper editors who toured the Soviet Union for three weeks found the Russian people outwardly friendly toward Americans although they are surrounded by anti-American propaganda posters.

The seven editors returned by plane from Paris late Thursday and held a press conference at Idlewild International Airport. They planned to continue to their respective schools Saturday.

Dave Barney, 27, of Reed College at Portland, Ore., said he saw numerous posters in factories and schools that clearly embodied anti-American propaganda. Students told him the posters were not directed against "the American people" but against "big business, capitalists and the corrupt press."

The editors, whose trip cost them $1,500 each, said they were treated courteously throughout their 5,000-mile journey to principal Russian cities.

Richard Elden, 20, Chicago, a student at Northwestern University, said the group attended a New Year's party at the Kremlin in Moscow. They requested an interview with Premier Georgi Malenkov but he sent them a personal message that he was "terribly busy" and couldn't see them.

Gregory Shuker, 21, Charleston, W. Va., another Northwestern student, said he got a shave, haircut, shampoo and massage for $1 in a barber shop at Kiev.

Richard E. Ward, 20, New Rochelle, N. Y., a Chicago University student, noted that Russian college students do not follow the American custom of "dating." Young men and women usually go around in separate groups and do not have "dates" unless they are engaged to be married.

Others who made the trip were William C. Ives, 20, Aledo, Ill., and Craig E. Lovett, 21, Galesburg, Ill., students at Knox College, Galesburg; and Dean Schockkopf, 21, St. Cloud, Minn., a student at the University of Minnesota.

Sen. Guy M. Gillette (D-Iowa), the measure's sponsor, believes speculators are mainly responsible for climbing coffee prices and that federal regulation would help out.

Aiken also disclosed he is asking the staff of his Agriculture Committee to make an early report on a bill to give the government power to put the coffee market under strict regulation.

Sen. Guy M. Gillette (D-Iowa), the measure's sponsor, believes speculators are mainly responsible for climbing coffee prices and that federal regulation would help out.

Aiken's statements came amid a gathering storm over coffee prices that have jumped to $1.03 a pound in major food chains around the country and threaten to climb even higher.

Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. said the Justice Department's anti-trust division is studying complaints about the price jumps. But he added that this is not yet a "formal investigation."

The State Department took issue with Gillette's assertion that speculators are to blame. In a letter to an inquiring congressman, it said it had no information suggesting price increases result "from anything other than a strong demand operating against a limited supply through normal market forces."

In Memoriam

In memory of our mother, Fanny Keneipp, who died Jan. 22, 1948, and our father, John Keneipp, who died Oct. 17, 1953.

Another year has passed, dear Mother.

And we miss you more each day; How we long to see you and our dear father too.

For you were both so kind and good to us.

But we know that you are resting, Free from all the cares of life, And are happy with our dear sister and brothers.

Who have crossed the chilly tide, God took you one by one from us To live with Him in Heaven, And while we miss you down here and weep,

We are trusting Him to take us there.

We loved you more and more each day, And now, dear Mother,

Since we do not have you and father with us here on earth, We look at your pictures that hang on the wall,

And our memory goes back to life's fairest days, When we were all together, But in our hearts we have a picture

Of you standing inside the pearly gates, With our dear Savior and the angels,

And with all our dear friends and loved ones gone before, And some day when this short life is over,

If we live true to Jesus We will be with you forever Throughout all eternity. Sadly missed by the children. *173-1

To Death in Home

WILMINGTON, Ill. (UP)—A 97-year old retired miner and farmer burned to death Thursday when fire swept the frame house he lived in on a farm operated by his daughter about four miles southeast of here.

David P. Griffith's daughter, Mrs. Charles Warner, told authorities her father was seated in a chair in the two-room house when she visited him shortly before the fire broke out.

Authorities believed an overheated coal stove caused the fire.

Senate Subcommittee Approves Amendment for Vote by 18-Year-Olds

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Senate Judiciary subcommittee today approved the 18-year-old vote amendment backed by President Eisenhower.

Three Republican members of a five-man subcommittee on constitutional amendments approved the plan. The final tally was held on pending the vote of two absent Democrats who also are believed to favor the plan.

The amendment would provide that the voting rights of persons 18-years-of-age shall not be abridged by the United States—or any of the States—because of their age.

It faces a stiffer test in the full Judiciary committee and almost certain wrangle when it reaches the Senate floor.

Miss Madonna Pfister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Pfister, 900 South Main street, a student nurse at De Paul Hospital School of Nursing in St. Louis, will receive her nurse's cap during annual capping ceremonies to be held in the school auditorium Sunday, Jan. 24, at 7:30 p. m. Caps will be blessed by Most Rev. Joseph E. Ritter, Archbishop of St. Louis, and awarded to the qualifying student nurses by Sister Andrea, hospital administrator. Rev. Glennon P. Flavin will deliver the address and Dr. William H. Thompson, president of the medical staff, will preside over the program.

The traditional capping ceremony marks the student's progress from the rank of a pre-clinical student on probation to the rank of freshman. Eighty students will receive their caps at this time. De Paul Hospital School of Nursing, operated by the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent De Paul, dedicated its new $2,400,000 nurses' residence last June. The school accommodates 230 students.

Little Change in Cost of Living

WASHINGTON (UP)—The cost of living continued "stable" as 1953 ended, the government reported today. Consumer prices declined very slightly in December.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics' index of consumer prices was practically unchanged between mid-November and mid-December. A slight decline of less than one-tenth of 1 per cent in consumer prices left the index at 114.9 per cent of average 1947-49 prices, still near the record level of 115.4 per cent set in October.

No major wage contracts are affected by the December index. The major contracts are tied to the index of other months. The slight decline also left the cost of living only seven-tenths of 1 per cent above December, 1952.

Frick Urges Expansion of Baseball Pension to Include 2-Year Players

NEW YORK — Commissioner Ford Frick told major league players today that his first objective in any expansion of the controversial pension plan would be to include players who are up in the majors for only two years.

"Before we expand the benefits to the players now involved, I believe we should expand the base," he said. "I think it is a lot more important for us to take care of players who are up in the majors for only a brief spell and who will be needing the money a lot more than players who were around for a long time."

Frick also said that any increase or change in pension benefits would be contingent upon an increase in the World Series and All-Star game radio and television contract, which expires with the current sponsor in 1956.

Joint Bank Account
"I think we may get considerably more money when we negotiate a new TV and radio contract," Frick said. "And I'm going to do everything possible to get the maximum amount. But of course we could price ourselves out of the market."

The last TV-radio contract, negotiated by Commissioner A. B. Chandler brought one-million dollars a year into baseball's central fund, from which most of the money for the pension plan is derived.

Frick, in a detailed accounting of the money, emphasized that although each major club technically owns 1-16th of the fund, "it simply is a joint bank account maintained by the clubs in the commissioner's office."

He also pointed out that the clubs saved a large amount on income taxes by having the fund established under one tent.

The players have suggested that they could administer their own pension fund but Frick said that they would individually have to pay substantial income taxes on the money.

The pension controversy reached its height here last Dec. 8 when the club owners in a joint meeting appointed a two-man committee of John Galbreath of Pittsburgh and Hank Greenberg of Cleveland to investigate the possibility of terminating the plan. This development came after the players demanded substantial increases in the benefits.

Rio Grande Wins, 74-71, But Bevo Is Outscored

NEW YORK — Write down the name of Ron Marquette of little Findlay College of Ohio today for a basketball "first" of the year — he outscored the fabulous Clarence (Bevo) Francis.

Big Bevo's Rio Grande College team came through with a 74-71 victory over Findlay in Thursday night's game at Dayton, Ohio, all right, but for the first time this year the record-smashing Francis had to take a back seat. Marquette tallied 36 points and Bevo "only" 32.

Francis had gone into the contest with a 49.5 points a game scoring average and a chance to push it over the 50-mark in his bid to "show" national cage officials who ruled out his record-busting scores of last season. But Bevo ran into trouble in the close guarding of Findlay center Harold (Herk) Wolfe, whose 6-feet, 9-inches almost matched Bevo's height.

Seattle Upsets Colorado A & M
Colorado A & M became a major upset victim Thursday night when it bowed to Seattle, 80-74 — only the second defeat for the Aggies in 15 games. The Aggies, co-leaders of the Skyline Conference, had carried an eight-game winning streak into the non-league game. The same teams met again tonight.

The Wichita Shockers, who owe their only defeat this season to the same Seattle club, rolled easily to a 102-50 victory over Fort Hays State. It was the 16th win in 17 games for the Missouri Valley Conference leaders, who are ranked 14th nationally, and their 14th straight since losing to Seattle in their third game of the season.

George Washington, Southern Conference leader, also improved on a gaudy record by nipping Virginia, 73-71, for its 12th win in 13 games. But it took two free throws by Jack Vale with only 35 seconds to play remaining to win for the Colonials. Joe Holup, who sank 17 of 19 free throws, led George Washington with 25 points. Also Thursday night, St. Francis, Pa., trounced Geneva, 99-83.

Galatia, Cave-in-Rock Play Tonight In Greater Egyptian Tourney Finals

Galatia and Cave-in-Rock gained the right to tangle this evening for the Greater Egyptian conference tournament title by disposing of Rosiclare and Vienna respectively in semi-final games last night.

The tourney favorites and defending champions, Galatia, almost joined Brookport and Pope Co., previous upset victims, but managed to squeeze by Rosiclare's unpredictable Bears, 60-58. Cave-in-Rock, downing the Johnson county club, 55-45.

Rosiclare and Vienna will clash tonight at 7 o'clock in the consolation game with Galatia making its bid for a third straight GEC tourney title against the host school, Cave-in, in the championship encounter at 8:30.

Bob Farris' Bearcats had to stage a 25-point third quarter to overhaul J. E. Shadowen's fast-stepping Rosiclare quintet. Once in the lead, the Saline county club played cautiously to stave off the continuously threatening Bears.

Rosiclare had the near-capacity crowd thinking in terms of upset from the opening whistle, as they jet propelled into a 16-10 first quarter lead. Galatia was still on the ropes throughout the second period with the rugged Bears pounding away to a 34-23 halftime advantage.

Fight To Protect Lead
Veterans Joe Upchurch and Bob Orto teamed up to hamper the upstart Bears a one-two punch in the third period, as they scored 19 of Galatia's 25 points in the eight minute quarter. The rally carried the Farrismen to a 48-44 lead at the end of the third period.

Rosiclare fought back in the last quarter, outscoring the Bearcats, 14-12, but the final buzzer sounded with Galatia still fighting savagely to protect their narrow margin.

Coach Farris found it necessary to use Don Hill, who has been sidelined for the past three weeks because of illness. Hill played during three of the four quarters and contributed seven points.

Rosiclare outthit the Bearcats from the field but missed several free throw attempts in the last half to fall short at the charity line.

Cave-in-Rock took advantage of its home-court know-all to hand Vienna a convincing defeat and give Galatia warning. The Rivermen pulled into an 18-13 first quarter lead and were never overtaken. They went on to post a 31-25 halftime score and were comfortably in front, 44-35 as the final quarter got underway.

Junior Hohler and Clarence Sturgill led Coach Lowell Oxford's troupe with 18 and 16 points respectively.

Cave, which had won only three conference games prior to the tournament, now appears as a real threat to Galatia's bid for the title. Galatia defeated the Rivermen in November, 60-57.

Bull Dogs Play At Mt. Vernon Saturday Night

Harrisburg is idle tonight in prep basketball competition but tomorrow evening they travel to Mt. Vernon.

That puts the last-place Bull Dogs against the first-place Rams in a South Seven contest. There are two league games on tap tonight, Mt. Vernon traveling to Marion and Centralia moving into West Frankfort. Herrin will be host to Murphysboro in a non-conference contest.

Besides Harrisburg at Mt. Vernon tomorrow night, West Frankfort will travel to Herrin in league battles.

The two biggest surprises in the South Seven this year so far have been the ability of Benton to stay up among the leaders and the inability of Centralia to rise in the standings in spite of having an exceptionally good team.

The standings:

Team	W	L
Mt. Vernon	6	0
Herrin	4	2
Benton	4	2
Marion	5	4
Centralia	3	4

Royalton Defeats Thompsonville in Loop Tourney

Royalton knocked Thompsonville's defending champions out of the running in the Little Egyptian conference tourney last night at Waltonville, 54-52.

Royalton will meet the host school, Waltonville, tonight in the championship encounter at 8:30, with Thompsonville playing Valier in the consolation scrap.

Waltonville downed Blufford Wednesday night and then dropped Valier last night for a berth in the finals.

Thompsonville led most of the way in their fracas with Royalton although the teams were nearly separated by many points. The Tigers held leads at all three quarter stops, 14-13, 32-30 and 44-39, but a Royalton drive in the final period could not be halted.

It was the second tournament this season in which the Royalton quintet had eliminated Thompsonville, the former victory coming in the Equality Invitational affair.

Chicago FBI Chief Resigns, Joins Arlington Staff

CHICAGO — Kline Weatherford, whose resignation as head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's Chicago office becomes effective on Feb. 15, has been appointed to the staff of the Arlington and Washington Park Race Tracks.

The announcement was made Thursday by Benjamin F. Lindheimer, executive director of the two Chicago tracks.

Looking AT Sports

By BILL MELTON
The policy followed at Harrisburg Township High school for many years of not hiring an HTHS graduate to teach at the school is being astoundedly says Merle Jones in his column in The Southern Illinoisan. Jones made this observation in discussing the hiring of John VanderPlum recently at the HTHS.

Jones' remarks follow: VanderPlum, first grad hired at Harrisburg High

The Ralph Davison situation at Harrisburg led to the shattering of one of the most unusual traditions I have ever heard about in Southern Illinois high school circles.

After Davison resigned, Johnny VanderPlum was hired as an assistant coach as assistant Lawrence Caluffetti moved to the top spot.

"So far as I know, I am the first Harrisburg High graduate who ever was hired to teach in the school," VanderPlum said.

VanderPlum, a star Bulldog athlete before completing his education at Southern last year, joined his father in the automobile business at Harrisburg rather than go into coaching last fall.

The policy of never hiring a Harrisburg graduate to teach in the high school is rather astounding. Harrisburg is one of the oldest schools in Egypt and was accredited as a township high school in 1903. Harry Taylor was the first principal and served for almost 50 years before his retirement.

"I don't know whether I will be back next year," VanderPlum said. "I don't guess anybody knows yet just what will happen for next year."

Davison has sold his home in Harrisburg and is making plans to return to his native Johnston City to reside until he finds another job. He was paid for the full 1953-54 school year. He may enter Illinois the second semester to work toward a Master's Degree.

Caluffetti, who went to Harrisburg seven years ago at the same time as Davison, is just marking time as the interim basketball coach.

"I don't know if I could stand much of this. I don't like to lose," Caluffetti said just after Harrisburg had taken its fourth trimming under Caluffetti at Benton Tuesday night.

The idea prevails right now that Caluffetti may be head football coach next year and the school will get another man for basketball.

This would have been a bad basketball year for Harrisburg even without the blowup in athletics. Only Richard Gidcomb and Ron Riegel of last year's conference champions returned from the first 10 men.

Tuesday night Caluffetti started Gidcomb and Riegel with juniors Dave Harrison and Gerald Wasson, sophomore Ron Williams. Another sophomore, Dave Anglin, had been playing regularly but was ill.

Other players who got into the game were juniors Don Price and Charles Polk, sophomores John Wilson and Tony Beal.

Most of the players who quit or were dropped from the squad in December were seniors. Davison had been able to win only one game with them. If Caluffetti wins many games with the inexperienced crew left at his disposal, he will accomplish quite a bit.

TOP CLUBS BOW TO REFORM DEMANDS

In an inside story on the recent meeting of Commissioner Ford Frick's nine-man committee to modernize baseball regulations affecting player advancement, The Sporting News has disclosed that the "have" clubs in the major leagues have finally agreed to help the "have-nots." As a result, draft rules may be liberalized so that three players can be taken from each minor league club in the A, Double-A, Triple-A and Open classifications. At present only one player can be drafted.

Brandon Files GOP Petition for State Treasurer Race
SPRINGFIELD — Robert J. Brandon, a veteran of 30 years in the Illinois House, has filed petitions for the Republican nomination for state treasurer in the April 13 primary.

Brandon, 72-year-old Centralia lawyer, late Thursday joined Conrad F. Becker, Red Bud, in the race for the GOP treasurer nomination. David F. Mallett, East St. Louis, is the only Democrat who has filed for that office.

All 25 members of the Illinois congressional delegation now have declared themselves for reelection. Last to file petitions was Democrat Peter F. Mack Jr., Carlinville, who filed Thursday.

To save their food value, cut or shred carrots just before serving.

The locals defeated the Evansville Citadel five, 39-33, but lost to the Evansville Outpost quintet, 54-48. Bob Beal was high point man for the locals.

Last Place OSU Tops Indiana In Scoring Race

CHICAGO — Ohio State, in last place with only one win in five games, topped the Big Ten scoring race today with an average of 78.6 points a game.

The Buckeye leadership was based on a field goal shooting average of 38.9 per cent, matched only by once-beaten Iowa. Ohio State also owned the best free throw shooting average with a mark of 69.4 per cent.

First-place Indiana was second in team scoring with an average of 76.4 points in six games. The Hoosiers made 37.4 per cent of their field goal attempts and 67.0 per cent of their free throws.

Iowa's Hawkeyes had the third-best team scoring mark with an average of 74.2 points in five games, and Illinois was fourth with a 73.1 average for six games.

Indiana's Don Schlundt moved into first place in the individual scoring race with an average of 30.1 points for six games.

He replaced Illinois' John Kerr on the basis of a 47-point spurge against Ohio State. The 47 points gave Schlundt the Big Ten one-game scoring record and a season total of 181 points.

Kerr held down second place with a 28.3 average and a 170-point total.

Minnesota's Dick Garmaker, who has made a phenomenal 59 per cent of his field goal attempts, was in third place with a total of 74 points for a 24.6 average in three games.

Ingots of precious germanium have been produced successfully by a method that promises to revolutionize the manufacture of transistors. This "mass" transistor production is expected to cut transistor cost. At present, the revolutionary electronic devices cost more than vacuum tubes.

Cousy Leads East Pro All-Stars to 98-93 Overtime Win

NEW YORK — "The little pro won the game but the big pro produced the greatest thrills," that was winning Coach Joe Lapchick's summation of the Eastern Division All-Stars' 98-93 overtime triumph over their Western rivals Thursday night in the fourth and most exciting edition of the National Basketball Association's annual "dream game."

The "little pro" was Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics, who threw in nine of his team's 14 points in the overtime session. And the "big pro" was George Mikan of the Minneapolis Lakers, who calmly tossed in two free throws after regulation time had run out to tie the score at 84-84.

Lapchick long has tabbed Cousy as "the best little man in the pro game," and Bounding Bob's latest performance before 16,457 Madison Square Garden fans served to back up the opinion of the New York Knickerbockers' coach.

Cousy, who has yet to miss an all-star game, led the East with 20 points and earned the most valuable player award. Jim Pollard of the Lakers paced the West with 23 points, five more than Mikan.

It was the East's third all-star victory and the second time Lapchick served as the winning coach.

Handy moved to the table. Over the milk bottle and the sugar bowl he reached for the briefcase with his left hand. He swung it toward him by the handle.

"Be careful you don't mess up prints," Helm advised him.

Handy backed toward the door, the revolver on his right hip, the briefcase dangling along his thigh. At the door he slipped the gun back under his armpit and turned the knob.

"You'll hear about this from the D. A.," he told Helm. "He's going to get tough."

"Uh-huh. But not with me."

Through the open door I saw a blue uniformed figure jump down the three steps. Handy started to turn as Ernie Watrous grabbed his arms. One of Ernie's cops appeared on Handy's left and poked a gun into Handy's ribs.

"What's this?" Handy demanded. "Take your hands off me."

"Pardon us," Ernie said cheerfully. "I forget you're the D. A.'s office boy and I'm only the law in West Amber."

Ben Helm moved forward. His body blocked out the doorway, but I saw a piece of the briefcase and Handy's hand clinging to the handle as Helm tried to take it from him. Then Handy uttered a sharp cry and Helm straightened up with the briefcase.

The four men surged up the steps and out of my line of vision.

"You sure this is the murder gun?" I heard Ernie say.

"Ballistics will prove it," Helm replied.

A car drove away, and it was quiet everywhere.

Hannah and I were still clinging to each other's hand when Ben Helm came back into the apartment. He no longer had the briefcase. He must have locked it in his car because it was certain he would not trust it with the police.

"Fingerprints," I said. "Was that why Handy had to come for it?"

"Uh-huh. These days even a housewife knows not to leave her fingerprints at the scene of a crime, but his were put on the records before he shot Larkin."

"You told us that Shad's wire wouldn't have been tapped for blackmail."

"The tap wasn't intended to get dirt on anybody but Shad. There was no court order, but there's a lot more illegal than legal wire-tapping done by officials."

"That's cute," I said. "Lecturing me on the ethics of wiretapping while the upholders of law and order aren't bothered by it."

"Ethics are for laymen." He gave me an affable smile. "I can get cynical too, but I try not to let it mess up my point of view. Anyway, the killer, if it wasn't you, must have had inside knowledge that Mrs. Larkin was coming here with the records. She would not have phoned whoever she had got them from—not if she was fleeing to you. Yet he knew where to find her and the briefcase and got here at about the same time as Larkin. That's too much coincidence unless he learned the same way as Larkin did."

Hannah said: "But that by no means meant that the wiretapper was the murderer."

I pulled my hand out of hers. She hardly noticed. The records were in the proper hands and the murderer was nobody she cared about.

"Uh-huh," Helm admitted, "until this morning when Paul Flagg was eliminated as the killer and I learned that both Mr. and Mrs. Larkin had been shot by the same .38 caliber revolver. I could see only one reason why the killer would hang onto a gun so dangerous to him. It was an official gun, licensed and registered in his name, and he was responsible for it when he quit or was fired. The thing to do was sit tight, especially when somebody else was strongly suspected. It might be years before he had to turn in his gun, and by then nobody would think of checking it against the murder bullets."

"And you set a trap to bring him here with his gun," she said.

"Uh-huh. I asked Randolph to let word get to everybody in his office that Paul Flagg had found the briefcase and was refusing to surrender it to me. I was reasonably sure that would bring the killer."

"Suppose it had been Randolph himself?"

"Then he would have had to come. Whoever it was, he had no choice. The fingerprints on the records by themselves weren't any sort of murder evidence; but when they were found he'd be asked to turn over his gun, and then he'd be in the soup. There would seem to be little risk in going after the records except that he would have to take his official gun. Even if he had a spare gun around, it would look fishy if he displayed it. He came here and found about what he expected. He had some legal standing; he wasn't overstepping authority by pulling his gun, and taking the briefcase away from us. Once he got the records out of here, he'd wipe them clean, saying he'd found them that way, and turn them over to the D. A., all legal and aboveboard with no kick-back."

He didn't resume speaking after he lit his pipe, which meant that he was finished. It was time for me to say my piece.

"The fingerprints on the records were evidence," I said. "You could have come in here with Ernie Watrous and taken possession of them legally and then waited for Handy."

He grinned engagingly. "But wasn't it an interesting discussion while waiting?"

Democrats Map Floor Fight for Tax Exemptions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. John W. McCormack said today the Democrats may carry their fight for increased income tax exemptions to the House floor now that Republicans have defeated the proposal in committee.

"If President Eisenhower can get tax reductions they should be equitable," he declared.

The only equitable way to cut taxes, McCormack told reporters, is to boost individual income tax exemptions from $600 to $700 as Democrats have proposed.

This proposal came up in the tax-writing House Ways and Means committee Thursday but went down to defeat on a straight party-line vote, 15-10. McCormack (D-Mass.) indicated the next step may be to force a House vote on the House floor.

Charge Political Maneuver

Committee Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) indicated the group might reconsider the plan. But the measure's sponsor, Rep. Hale Boggs (D-La.), said he doubts this.

Some GOP members branded the proposal a "political" maneuver to embarrass the Republicans in view of the federal deficit anticipated for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The exemption increase would cost the government an estimated 2 to 3 billion dollars a year in revenue, considerably aggravating the deficit which the Republicans are trying to erase.

The exemption dispute arose as the committee was working on a general revision of the tax laws that includes many of the President's recommendations.

Meanwhile, the President appeared to have picked up little support for the plea in his budget message Thursday that the corporation and excise tax cuts scheduled to go into effect April 1 be cancelled. Informed sources predicted a compromise, however.
